Utah Air National Guard Announces Air Force Week Flyovers

SALT LAKE CITY - As part of Salt Lake City's Air Force Week festivities, KC-135 Stratotankers from the 151st Air Refueling Wing, Utah Air National Guard, will perform two flyovers Saturday, June 6.

Flyover times are as follows:

- 7 p.m. -- SilverLake Amphitheater, Eagle Mountain, during the "Tribute to Our Troops" concert
- 7:55 p.m. -- Rio Tinto Stadium, Sandy, during the Real Salt Lake vs. Colorado Rapids game

Salt Lake City is one of only three cities selected this year to host Air Force Week during June 1 -7, which showcases America's Airmen. The Utah Air National Guard is supporting Air Force Week by providing aircraft and aircrews for flyover events and civic leader flights, as well as providing static and equipment displays at Pioneer Park, Hill Air Force Base and other venues throughout the Wasatch Front.

The purpose of Air Force Week is to provide an opportunity for the local community to meet the dedicated men and women of the U.S. Air Force. The week offers a multitude of activities that appeal to children and adults. Events include performances from the Air Force's awarding-winning bands and drill team, exciting displays, earth-shaking flyovers and remarkable hands-on experiences with unique equipment.

The week will culminate with an air show at Hill Air Force Base June 6-7, and a performance by the world famous Thunderbirds aerial demonstration team. For more information on Air Force, visit <http://www.airforceweek.af.mil/saltlakecity/index.asp>.
